DECISION IN U S CIRCUIT COURT

From and after the act of July 13 1861 (12 Stat 257) and the proclamation of August 16, 1861, pursuant thereto, declaring the inhabitants of Arkansas to be in a state of insurrection against the United States, and until the termination of such insurrection, an inhabitant of Arkansas could not maintain an action in the courts within the State of Oregon against an inhabitant of the latter State, and therefore the period during which such insurrection existed is not to be counted as a part of the time limited for the commencement of such an action

The act of July 13, 1861 (Ibid), impliedly authorized the President, so long as Congress did not otherwise provide, to declare by proclamation that the insurrection before declared to exist by him, had ceased, as to the inhabitants of any State or section thereof

The President having declared the inhabitants of Arkansas in a state of insurrection the Court does not judicially know that any portion of them, then or afterwards, were within the exceptions in the proclamation because they in fact [illegible] occupied and controlled by the forces of the United States

A chose in action accruing to a woman during coverture survives to her, unless the husband reduce it to his exclusive possession during his life time therefore when a legacy was given to the wife and she and her husband joined in a power of attorney authorizing O to collect and receive the same for her use and benefit, the receipt of the money by O during the life of the husband was not the possession of the latter, except for the use of the wife, and the right to recover the same from O survived to her

U S Circuit Court for the District of Oregon —Saturday, December 31, 1870 Chappelle vs Olney —Action to recover money

This action was commenced August 17, 1870 From the complaint it appears that the plaintiff is a resident and citizen of the State of Arkansas and the defendant of Oregon, and that the plaintiff has resided in Cross county, in the State of Arkansas, continuously since December 10 1859

That in the year 1854 the plaintiff then being one of the legatees in the last will and testament of Philip Thompson, deceased, late of Oregon, did together with her late husband, Elisha W Chappelle, constitute and appoint the defendant their agent and attorney to collect and receive for plaintiff's use and benefit all sums of money accruing to plaintiff from the estate of said Thompson and to hold the same subject to the order and demand of plaintiff and her said husband, in consideration whereof the defendant undertook and promised plaintiff and her said husband to transmit to said husband for the use and benefit of plaintiff all such sums of money received by him as aforesaid, whenever he should be thereunto afterwards requested. That the defendant as agent and attorney as aforesaid received from said estate for plaintiff's use the sum total of $6,146 in gold and silver coin, and that on November 30, 1860, the sum of $4,950 54 of said moneys was remaining in the hands of defendant, and that upon said last mentioned date, said Elisha W Chappelle requested defendant to forthwith transmit to him for plaintiff's use and benefit all such moneys then in his hands, and that the defendant neglected and refused to transmit or pay over the sum of money then in his hands or any part thereof, and still so neglects and refuses to the damage of plaintiff $9,756 71

On August 17, the defendant appeared and demurred to the complaint, and for cause of demurrer alleged

1 That the action had not been commenced within the time limited by law.

2 That the facts stated are not sufficient to constitute a cause of action

On September 5 and 13 the demurrer was argued by counsel and submitted

It appears from the complaint that the plaintiff's right of action did not accrue within six years next before the commencement of this action, but that a period 9 years, 8 months and 17 days elapsed between the demand for the money and the bringing of the action By the law of this State this action is barred if not commenced within six years but when the plaintiff is "an alien, subject or citizen of a country at war with the United States, the time of the continuance of the war shall not be a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action (Code, Sec 6, 19) It follows that the demurrer as to the first cause alleged is well taken unless the plaintiff's right to sue the defendant was suspended at least 3 years, 8 months and 17 days by reason of the hostilities or war carried on between the United States and the States of the so-called Southern Confederacy—including Arkansas—between November 30 1860, and the commencement of this action If the right to sue was so suspended for any length of time, that period is not to be counted as a part of the six years within which the action may have been commenced

By section 5 of the act of July 13, 1861 (12 Stat 257) Congress authorized the President under certain circumstances therein mentioned, to declare by proclamation that the inhabitants of any State or section thereof were in a state of insurrection against the United States, "and thereupon all commercial intercourse by and between the same and the citizens thereof, and the citizens of the rest of the United States shall cease and be unlawful so long as such condition of hostility shall continue, and all goods and chattels, wares and merchandise, coming from said State or section into the other parts of the United States, and all proceeding to such State or section, by land or water, shall, together with the vessel or vehicle conveying the same, or conveying persons to or from such State or section, be forfeited to the United States"

This act was passed with direct reference to the rebellion or insurrection then being organized and maintained in certain States—including Arkansas—against the authority and Government of the United States In pursuance of this act the President on August 16 1861, by proclamation, declared the inhabitants of certain States—including Arkansas to be in a state of insurrection against the United States, excepting, among others, the inhabitants of such parts of such States as 'may maintain a loyal adhesion to the Constitution and the Union or may be from time to time, occupied and controlled by forces of the United States engaged in the dispersion of said insurgents'

On April 2 1866 the President by proclamation declared 'that the insurrection which heretofore existed in certain States—including Arkansas—is at an end, and on August 20, 1866, another Presidential proclamation was issued declaring that the insurrection was at an end in Texas—this State not having been included in the proclamation last mentioned—and that the 'said insurrection is at an end, and that peace order tranquility and civil authority now exist in and throughout the whole of the United States of America'

From and after the date of the proclamation of August 16, 1861, all commercial intercourse was prohibited between the inhabitants of Arkansas and the people of the United States and the transportation or removal of property to or from Arkansas and other parts of the United States not declared to be in a state of insurrection was punishable by forfeiture thereof For the time being the plaintiff was a citizen or inhabitant of a country at war with the United States, and therefore could not maintain an action in the courts within this State against the defendant to secure this money (1 Kent 66) The plaintiff's remedy was suspended until the cessation of hostilities and the restoration of peace and lawful intercourse between the people of the two countries (Ibid, 68)

The next question to be considered is, when did this state of insurrection or hostilities cease? Without stopping to consider whether the President has any power to declare the beginning or ending of an insurrection except in pursuance of legislative authority, and conceding that all power over questions of war and peace domestic or foreign, is vested by the Constitution in Congress, except that vested in the the treaty making power, I am of the opinion that the authority conferred upon the Executive by the Act of July 13, 1861, to declare Arkansas in a state of insurrection, impliedly authorized him, if the state of things amounting to such insurrection should cease or change, to then declare it at an end, unless in the mean time Congress had otherwise provided Assuming that the insurrection as to Arkansas was at an end from and after the proclamation of April 2, 1866, the remedy of the plaintiff—the right to sue defendant for this money—was suspended for 4 years, 7 months and 16 days Deducting this period from the time between the accruing of the right of action and the commencement of this action, leaves 5 years, 1 month and 1 day—a period of 11 months and 29 days less than that allowed by law within which to begin the action This view of the matter is the most favorable one that can be taken for the defendant, for there is no ground upon which the Court can assume that the insurrection, including the prohibition of intercourse between the people of the United States and Arkansas terminated at an earlier date Actual war—the marching of hostile forces and the conflict of opposing armies in battle—may have ceased sooner, but this proclamation is the earliest act of the Government to which the attention of the Court has been called which purports or has the effect to relieve the inhabitants of Arkansas from the status of insurrection and consequent non intercourse, in which they were placed by the proclamation of August 16, 1861

In U S vs Anderson (9 *Wall*56) the question arose,—when was the rebellion entirely suppressed? The circumstances were these —What is called the Captured and Abandoned property act, passed March 12, 1863, (12 Stat 820) gave to the loyal owners of such property a right to bring suit against the United States in the Court of Claims to recover the proceeds thereof, 'at any time within two years after the suppression of the rebellion' Anderson a resident of Charleston South Carolina, on June 5, 1868, commenced an action to recover the proceeds of certain cotton seized and sold by the United States The defense was, that the action was barred by the limitation in the act of March 12, 1863, or in other words that the action was not commenced "within two years after the suppression of the rebellion." By an act of Congress passed March 2, 1867 (13 Stat 422) it was declared that the act passed June 20, 1864, (13 Stat 144) to increase the pay of the army should "be continued in full force and effect for three years after the close of the rebellion as announced by the President of the United States, by proclamation bearing date August 20, 1866"

The Court held that the limitation of two years did not commence to run until the rebellion was suppressed throughout the whole country and that the proclamation of August 20, 1866, was the first official declaration on the part of the Executive that the rebellion was wholly suppressed, The Court also held that the act of March 2, 1867, was so far a legislative recognition of the proclamation declaring the insurrection at an end throughout the United States on August 20, 1866 and that that day would be considered as the day when the rebellion was suppressed, as respects the rights intended to be secured by the Captured and Abandoned property act

The Court also expressed the opinion that there is no reason why this declaration of Congress should not be received as settling the question of when the rebellion was suppressed, "wherever private rights are effected by it." But the Court premised this dictum by the declaration that it did not intend to decide anything more than the question, When was the rebellion entirely suppressed within the meaning of the limitation clause of the Captured and Abandoned Property Act?

The conclusion of the Supreme Court upon this question does not conflict with the opinion already expressed in this case, that for the purpose of enabling an inhabitant of Arkansas to maintain an action in the courts of Oregon the insurrection and consequent disability of the plaintiff to sue were at an end, from and after the proclamation to that effect of April 2, 1866 For this purpose it was only necessary that the insurrection should have been declared at an end as to the inhabitants of Arkansas, and whether it still continued in Texas or not did not affect the plaintiff's right to sue the defendant

But as to this case, it makes no difference whether the insurrection as to the inhabitants of Arkansas was at an end from and after the proclamation of April 2, 1866, or that of Aug 20th of the same year In either case, after deducting the time during which the remedy of the plaintiff was suspended by the state of war or insurrection, the limitation of six years would not have run against her right of action.

On the argument counsel for defendant did not seriously question the correctness of these conclusions, but maintained that the action was barred unless it affirmatively appeared from the complaint that the plaintiff was not within the exception contained in the proclamation of August 16, 1861, or in other words that the particular locality in Arkansas—Cross county—in which the plaintiff resided during the existence of the insurrection did not "maintain a loyal adhesion to the Union and the Constitution," or was not "occupied and controlled by forces of the United States"

The plaintiff is not required to anticipate the defence of the statute of limitations, nor could the defendant at common law claim the benefit of it unless he pleaded it But under the Code, when it appears from the statement of the cause of action in the complaint that it did not accrue within the limitation prescribed by law, the defence may be made by demurrer In such case I suppose the plaintiff should anticipate the defence by stating in the complaint any special matter which he relies upon to take the case out of the statute, or otherwise the demurrer will be sustained But as in this case if such special matter is within the judicial knowledge of the court, it need not be stated in the complaint

Here it appears upon the face of the complaint that the action was not commenced within six years from the time it accrued If this were all, a demurrer that the action had not been commenced within the time limited would be a good defence But it is also judicially known to the Court that the inhabitants of Arkansas,—which description includes the plaintiff under the allegations in the pleadings,—were in a state of insurrection against the United States for a sufficient period after the action accrued to take the case out of the statute But at this point the defendant asks the Court to assume that Cross county was during this time within the exception in the proclamation,—that is, was either loyal to the Union or occupied by the forces of the United States, and therefore not in a state of insurrection Now this is a matter of which, if true, the Court cannot take judicial notice The proclamation declares the whole State to be in a state of insurrection No particular exceptions to this condition are recognized as then existing The exceptions made, relate to no particular person or place, but only to such persons or places as may possibly then or thereafter—particularly thereafter—'maintain a loyal adhesion to the Union and Constitution or be 'occupied and controlled by the forces of the United States' The exception in regard to the State of Virginia is positive and definite It relates to the inhabitants of that part of the State lying west of the Allegany mountains' If then the particular portion of Arkansas in which the plaintiff resided during the hostilities between the United States and the Southern Confederacy was, as a matter of fact loyal to the Union or occupied and controlled by United States forces, and therefore not in a state of insurrection, and the defendant relies upon these facts to bring the case within the bar of the statute, he should plead them and be prepared to prove them on the trial

Upon the argument of the second cause of demurrer it was contended for the defendant that the chose in action—the legacy—was reduced to possession by the husband of plaintiff in his lifetime, and therefore the right to the same did not survive to her, but to the administrator of the husband

Upon a careful examination of the facts and authorities I am clear that the demurrer in this respect is not well taken

The husband was entitled to reduce this legacy to his possession in his life time, and then the property in it would have become absolutely his and upon his decease gone to [illegible] reduce it to possession, his property in it being in the mean time only conditional, it would survive to his wife (1 Bac Ab, 700 Hayward vs. Hayward, 29 Pick, Schuyler et al. vs Hoyle, 5 John C. R, 196)

In the cases cited from 20 Pick and 5 John C R the questions raised by this branch of the demurrer are thoroughly examined and discussed, and the decisions of both the learned courts were in favor of the right of survivorship of the wife, and that, too, under circumstances not so strongly in her favor as are those of this case

If the power of attorney given to defendant had been given by the husband alone it might have been, there would be force in the argument that the act itself evinced an intention to reduce the property to his own possession But the power was from the wife as well as the husband This fact itself shows a want of intention on the part of the husband to acquire the property for himself and the possession of the defendant acquired under this joint power of attorney was not the separate possession of the husband but of him and his wife.

It is well settled that if the husband [illegible] alone, as he may [illegible] entitled in right of [illegible] property the [illegible] of own [illegible] husband [illegible] band dies the wi[illegible] take the benefit of the re[illegible] The joining of th[illegible] be sufficient eviden[illegible] part of the husband [illegible] property to his own possession or [illegible] the benefit of himself

In this case in a[illegible] joining in the power of attorney there is [illegible] press declaration [illegible] that the defendant was to receive [illegible] husband for [illegible] circumstance alone [illegible] the intention of the husband to [illegible] possession of the property otherwise [illegible] to the plaintiff Under these circumstances the receipt of the money by the de[illegible] the receipt of it by the husband otherwise than for the use and purpose mentioned in the power, and upon his death, whilst the money was still in the hands of the defendant the right to sue for and recover it to her own use survived to the wife

The demurrer must be overruled with costs

A Wisconsin secular paper sends out the following story.

One who does not believe in immersion for baptism, was holding a protracted meeting and one night preached on the subject of baptism In the course of his remarks he said that some believe it necessary to go down into the water and come up out of it to be baptized. But this he claimed to be a fallacy, for the preposition 'into,' of the Scriptures, should be rendered differently, as it does not mean into at all times. "Moses," he said "we are all told, went up into the mountain, and the Savior was taken into a high mountain, etc So with going down into the water it means simply going down close by or near to the water, and being baptized in the ordinary way by sprinkling or pouring."

He carried out this idea fully, and in due season and style closed his discourse when an invitation was given for any one so disposed to arise and express his thoughts Quite a number of the brethren arose and said they were glad they had been present on this occasion and they were well pleased with the sound sermon they had heard, and felt their souls greatly blessed Finally a corpulent gentleman of Teutonic extraction, a stranger to all, arose and broke a silence that was almost painful, as follows

"Mr Breacher, I ish so glad I ish here to-night, for I has ha[illegible] to my mint some tink dat I n[illegible] before Oh, I ish so glad that into does not mean into at all, put shust py or near to, for now I can pelief manish tinks dat I could not pelief pefore We reat Misder Breacher dat Taniel vas cast into te ten of lions and came out alife! Now I nefer could pelief dat for de wild peasts would shust eat him right off put now it ish very clear to my mint He vas close py or ner to, unt did not go into to ten at all Oh, I ish so glat I ish here to night

Again we reat dat to Hebrew children vash cast into the firish furnace, and dat air alwish lookt like one ferry peeg story too, for they would have peen purnt up, put it ish all blain to my mint now, for they were shust cast near py or close to the firish furnace Oh, I vas so glat I ish here to-night.

And ten, Misder Breacher, it ish sed dat Jonah vas cast into de sea and take into the whallesh pelly. Now I nefer could pelief dat It alwaysh seemdt to me to be peeg story put it ish all blain to my mint now He vas not taken into te whale's pelly put shust shumpt onto his pack and rote ashore O I vash so glat I ish here to night!

And now, Misder Breacher, if you vil shust explain two more passages of Scriptures I shall be so happy dat I vash here to-night! One of them ish vere it saysh de wicket shall be cast into a lake that purns with fire and primstone alwaysh Oh, Misder Breacher, shall I be cast into dat lake if I am wicked! or shust close py, or near to, shust near enough to be comfortable? Oh, I hopes you will tell me I shall be cast only shust py, a goot way off and I will be so glat I vash here to-night! The oder passage is that vich sayish, blessed are they who do these commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life and enter in through the gates into the city Oh, tell me I shall get into the city and not close py or near to, shust near enough to see vat I have lost and I shall be so glat I vas here to-night!

FROM CHEYENNE TO HELENA —Of the projected railroad, to connect the Union and Northern Pacific roads, the Omaha Republican says the enterprise seems to be regarded with increased favor, is enlisting a good deal of interest Such a junction says that journal, between the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific at the base of the mountains developing for agricultural purposes a large belt of country splendidly adapted to grazing, and at the same time skirting, in all its length, a mineral region of untold wealth, is a project startling by its boldness. The hidden recesses of the buffalo and the red man are remorselessly invaded by the adventurous spirit that is rapidly weaving a net-work of railroads wherever human cupidity is likely to be rewarded for its pains Twenty years since, the trapper and hunter only dared to invade the country through which this road is projected HUMAN WET BLANKETS.—For one writes Fanny Fern, the longer I live, the more I value health and cheerfulness For pity's sake, let mothers before they speak the final affirmative to a daughter's lover see that he has both these priceless gifts. I remember a human wet blanket, I used to stare at, with round eyes of wonder, when a child A groan—sepulchral—marked his entrance a groan his sitting down A groan preceded the the inquiry "Well, isn't it a dreadful dull time in the church?" 'No?' answered Brother Hopeful "there were two accessions last Sunday" "Well —with another groan —'ten to one they will both backslide' Now what call had this man to be the father of twelve children?—yet that was just his number One would think, with such hearse-like views of life, he wouldn't take that liberal view of the census Oh give me the man who comes into his house with a free joyous swing of his arm, snatches up the baby and seats it on his head and kisses his wife as he hunts up the rest of the bairns I can tell a woman in any crowd who has this sort of a husband—God bless him! wherever he is No son or daughter of his will be likely to roam in search of a pleasanter place than 'our house

BUYING PENDLETON OFF —We learn by intimation in the Western papers that Governor Hoffman and his friends have sought and perhaps closed, a bargain with Mr Pendleton by which the latter is not to appear as a candidate for President in the next Democratic National Convention In return for this sacrifice he is to have the English Mission or to be Secretary of State It isn't announced whether this bargain is dependent upon Hoffman's nomination and ratification by the people The Democracy of the West however, do not acquiesce in this Tammany arrangement Buying off Pendleton does not buy off them, They are pressing Senator Hendricks of Indiana, for the Presidential nomination, and the retirement of Pendleton instead of subduing their opposition to Gov Hoffman, only renders them more united for Hendricks —N Y Albany [illegible]

Portland and the Railroads.

The construction of the west side railroad is necessary to Portland, not only for the reason that it will bring the counties of the west side to her doors, but chiefly for the additional great inducement which it will offer to the managers of the Northern Pacific to bring their great road to this point. In this view of the case Portland is not now laboring merely for the building of the west side road, but the ulterior and greater object is to secure the Northern Pacific.

Much more, therefore, than the construction of the west side road may depend on the acceptance of this proposition to raise one hundred thousand dollars. By pledging this sum and securing the west side road a large additional capital will be concentrated here, a weight of capital sufficient to make a great difference in determining the position of Portland with reference to the Northern Pacific railway. That railway has already been commenced. Within six months the cars will run from the Columbia river toward Puget Sound. Within a short period they will run through the Cascade mountains along the Columbia river, and probably within five years the whole trans-continental Northern Pacific line will be built. Portland has it in her power to be the great city of the Columbia river valley; for [illegible] the point where these railways converge and meet each other upon the navigable waters of the river system west of the Cascade mountains.

But it will not do to rely wholly upon chance or luck for this future. Cities are often made or marred, according to the foresight and liberality which they employ, or [illegible] their want of these qualities [illegible] neglect of opportunities. In the new order of things that is henceforth to prevail [illegible] enterprise and spirit and energy [illegible]. Old things are passing away [illegible] order of affairs here is to [illegible] change. [illegible] enterprises [illegible] of millions [illegible] capital [illegible] country directed and wielded [illegible] energy and sagacity of [illegible] who know [illegible] necessary to produce great changes. This country [illegible] awakening [illegible] past [illegible] are not wise who [illegible] these things. Even a blind man here could see the changes that are already taking place around him.

Portland now has a great advantage; she [illegible] that [illegible]. The first [illegible] who are interested [illegible] to subscribe [illegible] to which will make it certain that the west side road [illegible] something else.

Reasons for the Continued Ascendancy of the Republican Party

[illegible] January [illegible] publishes an article [illegible] gives an abundance of reasons for the continued existence and usefulness of the Republican [illegible] summarizes [illegible] clear and pointed manner. Mr. Wilson [illegible] observes [illegible] reference [illegible] record of achievement which the Republican party has made [illegible] sixteen years of life, and it is to be noted that those who [illegible] laurels have few [illegible] of their own [illegible] the same period to be proud of. [illegible] the new departure [illegible] that [illegible] be condensed into a paragraph but the two main points are that the necessities of the nation to-day are unification and education. By the former word he means welding still tighter the bonds of union, making the country one homogeneous whole in which sectional pride, sectional jealousy and sectional interests shall have no dangerous power and neither diversities of race nor geography shall give [illegible] for future discord. By education he means the bringing forward of the whole [illegible] conformity with the best plans of [illegible] with knowledge as the [illegible]. To these main issues of the future Mr. Wilson adds the pressing duties [illegible] the faithful administration [illegible] the improvement of our financial condition, the adjustment of the tariff on a permanent basis, the firm management [illegible] questions involved in our foreign relations, and the reformation of the [illegible] service.

The [illegible] enumeration of these points is [illegible] to any candid mind that [illegible] placing the country in the right [illegible] right on these questions [illegible] the Republican party." It [illegible] into the hands of the [illegible] to be wrong [illegible] of these matters. Many do not agree with the financial policy of Mr. Boutwell in some essential particulars, but shall we therefore hand the Treasury over to Mr. Pendleton? Nor is there any need of a new party on any of these questions. As to Mr Wilson's two great principles, the one includes the other, and both demand the earnest attention of every thoughtful American. We can become homogeneous only by education, and in education lies the remedy for every other ill which threatens us. An intelligent, cultivated people will not submit to gross corruption. With educated masses even concentrated capital can have little dangerous opportunity. Education alone can give us a new South, loyal, enterprising, prosperous. An ignorant Republic is dangerous to itself and to the world; indeed, it cannot remain a Republic. In ignorance lies the peril of Republican institutions in America, in intelligence lies their safety, just as the chief danger of France is in the ignorance of her peasantry, the unconquerableness of Germany in the trained intellect of her people. The education which we need as a bulwark, as Mr. Wilson points out, is not primarily the culture of the college,—essential also but sure to follow when the foundation is once laid, but the universal teaching of the common schools; and this must be extended over the whole land, and the national authority must find some way to see that it is done.

There is no reason in the nature of things why the Democratic party should array itself against the extension of knowledge to every corner of the country, except the fatal facility of the organization for going wrong, which it has shown again and again. But we may feel sure in advance that it will go wrong, and there is no party but the Republican equal to assuming the task of putting a schoolhouse within reach of every child in the land, teaching every voter to know what he is voting for, and so making a free and happy Republic possible for the hundred millions of the next generation, as it was for the residents of the original thirteen thinly populated States.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, December 17, 1870.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The Senate bill, introduced by Mr Williams in March last, to pay the Oregon volunteers of 1854, was before the Committee on Military Affairs of the House this morning, and the committee agreed to recommend the passage of the bill without any amendments. This looks like the much abused and long neglected Oregon volunteers will finally get justice.

The committee also had under consideration Mr. Smith's bill to pay Capt. Hathaway's company of the Washington volunteers of 1855-6, but the committee came to no conclusion. It will come up again next week. The claims intended to be recognized by both bills are just and should be paid.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The President has issued an order to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and to the Secretary of the Interior Department to make no appointment of any Indian Agent without the recommendation of some religious denomination having missionaries among the Indians.

This is a radical reform. Such appointments have been made from the organization of the Indian Bureau to the present time on the recommendations of members of the House and Senators. Hereafter their recommendations, during President Grant's administration, are to be wholly disregarded, and those of the churches are to be substituted and adopted. The reform is a good one and works well.

UMPQUA AND WILLAMETTE RIVERS.

Mr. Corbett has introduced the following resolution, which was considered by unanimous consent and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be requested to furnish to the Senate such information as he may have, or that may come to hand prior to January 1, 1871, as to the probable cost of the improvement of the Umpqua river and the Willamette river above Oregon City, in Oregon.

When the report of the Secretary of War is made Mr. Corbett will exert himself to get an appropriation for their improvement.

Both of Senator Williams' Oregon railroad land grant bills still sleep with the Committee on Public Lands of the House. From the present temper of the House and committee it is probable Gabriel's trumpet could not wake them to life again.

THE JUDICIARY.

Senator Williams has introduced a bill to amend the second section of the Judiciary Act of March 31, 1863, by substituting the words "five hundred dollars" instead of the words "fifty dollars."

MISSOURI POLITICS AND AMNESTY.

For the last two days the great question in political circles has been that of wiping out all political disabilities imposed on certain classes in the South. In the Senate it was made the pretense for Mr. Carl Schurz to review the recent election in the State of Missouri. He made an able effort to defend himself and the bolters of Missouri. He claimed that the result was the triumph of President Grant's principle, "Let us have peace," over the President's influence and patronage. Senator Drake, Mr. Schurz's colleague, the leader of the opposition in Missouri, replied to day in an able and dignified speech of over two hours and a half duration. During both days the galleries and corridors of the Senate were crowded.

Mr. Drake's speech was full of force, point and bitter sarcasm. The friends of the Administration claim that he completely answered his colleague and conclusively proved that the Schurz-Brown movement in Missouri was traitorous to the Republican party. Mr. Drake was, in many passages, truly eloquent. His sketch of Missouri politics was terse and vigorous, his criticisms of Mr. Schurz were, in many respects, just. Mr Drake has been nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate Chief Justice of the Court of Claims. This is his last day and last speech in the Senate. He is an able man and an excellent elocutionist. The delivery of his speech could not possibly have been better. It was at once a defence of the Administration, a defense of Missouri, a defense of the Republicans, and a farewell to the Senate. The adieu with which he closed was simple, eloquent and patriotic as the Schurz portion was severe and denunciatory.

Cox also made, in the House, a lively speech on amnesty. Mr. Butler's bill will be defeated by a large majority and a general amnesty bill put [illegible] in its place; but it will fail of getting a two-thirds majority at this session of Congress, consequently, it will not become a law.

Nine tenths of both parties would be glad to see all disabilities removed, but many think the rebels have not shown signs of repentance, and that it would be impolitic and unwise to remove their disabilities before they repent, and that such a course would only encourage crime in the South.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Southern papers have not yet ceased to speak about the good health of Jefferson Davis. He has lately been amusing himself by delivering addresses to Sunday school children.

A baker named Metsker was lately intoxicated at Indianapolis, and while in that condition some wretch painted his face with a sort of black paint that soap will not wash off, and he now looks like a fright.

Ten immense buildings of Joliet stone are at present in course of construction on Rock Island, Ill, for a Government arsenal, which is probably destined to supersede those of St. Louis and Springfield, Mass.

The Treasury Department now prints 4,000 copies of the public debt statement in German and 2,00 in English. Prominent bankers at home and abroad are regularly supplied with copies of the debt statement.

Some short time since a gang of ruffians were surprised while holding high carnival in one of the vaults of the old cemetery near Troy. They had furnished the interior, hung pictures, and had a cooking stove in full blast.

Bennett, of the Herald clan, whose death has been so frequently anticipated, visits his office daily and directs affairs with his usual firm, high hand. He is a fine sample of the tough old gentleman that has endurance as its best quality.

The national debt was recently reduced to the extent of $59,000, through a confession of judgment on the part of the heirs of the late Alfred P. Stone, of Cincinnati. The deceased had at one time been Collector of Internal Revenue for the Seventh District of Ohio, and it was charged on behalf of the Government that he had violated his official bond. The claim was for $100,000, and the suit had been pending against his sureties for the recovery of the sum since 1866.

A Significant Vote.

"The resolution of Mr. Kelly, of Connecticut, suggesting, as the proper sort of revenue reform, the abolition of our internal revenue taxes, stamps, &c, except as alcoholic liquors and tobacco, has been adopted in the House by a vote of one hundred and sixty four to five. The general public sentiment of the country calls for that revenue reform which will dismiss the army of our internal taxation assessors and inquisitors, prying into the private affairs of the people and taxing them from the rising of the sun to the going down thereof and then to his reappearance the next morning."

We take the above from the leading editorial column of the Herald. Now since we are told that the "proper sort of revenue reform is the abolition of our internal revenue taxes, it is clear that we cannot have free trade and must depend on the tariff for Government revenues. And this completely annihilates the free trade position which the Herald has been trying to maintain. That paper is exceedingly unfortunate in its way of putting things.

The excitement at Puget Sound about the terminus rages more than ever. We beseech our friends over there to keep quiet, or as quiet as possible. All the dust they are raising won't help matters. Remember there's a divinity that shapes our termini, and find comfort in that philosophic view of things.

The Eugene Guard rather inclines to Hoffman for the Presidential candidate of its party. In this it differs with the Portland Herald, which has denounced Hoffman as a corrupt man and the tool of Jim Fisk and the disreputable New York ring.

THE TERRITORIES.

A cougar weighing 120 pounds was killed last week near Olympia.

The Vancouver Register says there is much excitement and a great rush for land along the Columbia river on the Washington side.

The bark Camden arrived at Port Townsend from Honolulu last week. Her only freight was two tons of coffee for the Puget Mill Company.

Frank Clark of Steilacoom has been disposing of his property by lottery or raffle. At least we see it stated that he has got off a horse and carriage in this manner.

A Port Townsend paper says: "The presence of an Inspectress on our steamers has just about stopped the travel of women to and from Victoria. This speaks volumes, and every merchant on the Sound has reason to thank Collector Drew for stopping an illicit traffic that has been carried on between the Sound and Victoria for years past. It is all very fine to moralize over the fact of a female inspector, but we know that one has long been needed.

A Minnesota paper has this: Capt. Morris' party of engineers, during their transactions in the Missouri valley, made discoveries of vast veins of lignite coal which are indeed a godsend to the road, which traverses so large a section of woodless country. They exhibited five distinct specimens of coal at the Company's headquarters yesterday, and also showed the results of some of the tests that had been made, which were exceedingly satisfactory. The veins range in thickness from eight to twelve feet.

POLITICAL NOTES.

With characteristic complacency the New Orleans Times remarks that the Congress of the United [illegible] and stern integrity which the South, when left to choose from her own sons, has never failed to give to that body.

John H. Surratt, of assassination infamy, is too huge a load for the Democrats to carry just now, and has come out in a card in which he says that in lecturing he does not appear as an exponent of party principles. Referring to the harsh criticism of the New York World he says: Conscious to myself of right, I will not be deterred from the course I choose to follow by the howlings and carpings of those who would be my friends if they dared.

The Paper, Democratic organ at Pittsburg, says: We demand protection for Pennsylvania, because without it, her mines must be closed and her fires extinguished. We educate no labor in this country, but import it from Europe. New York would leave the skill abroad, and import the manufactures. The West and South would consume the products of foreign skilled labor without duty, but we prefer, because it is right, to bring from the old world its skilled labor to develop and enrich our own industries, and multiply our population, and thus out of the failing fortunes of the old world to augment our own prosperity.

The Washington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch says the Democratic leaders wish to nominate for President a strong man, who has the prestige of success, and he adds: "Hoffman is pointed out as such a man, but the majority of the thinking, sound, substantial men of the party have opinions that his time can be delayed with no detriment to the party, but with advantage. Hendricks, of Indiana, is the man. Thurman, equally a statesman, and equally fortunate in the esteem of his countrymen, stands high on the list with others, but Hendricks, the representative of the banner State of the West, at this time appears to be the first in the field.

The Troy (N. Y.) Press not only supports Hoffman for the Presidency, but has already nominated nearly all his Cabinet officers for him. It moreover says that "of course the Ohio Democracy will not think of appearing in the convention with a candidate," and it cannot see how any other Western State can put forward a very reasonable claim in behalf of any of its citizens, however able or personally worthy, the victory in New York having put that State ahead of all other States in the race. Finally, the Press makes them a [illegible] curious [illegible]: "Nor is it a gruff last answer to her claim, that the last Democratic candidate was a resident of New York. Governor Seymour did not desire the nomination. He besought the convention not to place him on the ticket, but the nomination was thrust upon him. The delegates from this State did not desire his nomination—not that he was not their first choice for President—but they knew he could not be elected at that time. Western politicians urged his nomination to get him out of the way, and put Frank Blair on the ticket to make his defeat doubly sure."

A learned doctor has given his opinion that tight lacing is a public benefit, inasmuch as it kills off all the foolish girls, and leaves the wise ones to grow into women.

CITY.

KALAMA—EXCITEMENT IN THIS CITY.—Talk about the new city on the Columbia, was very general in this city yesterday, and we imagined that some of the real estate speculators were a little nervous about it. There can be no doubt that the new town will be a place of some importance, but whether it will become a dangerous rival of this city must depend much upon circumstances which are at present somewhat under the control of our own people. There is already here a large amount of capital, and by judicious measures the amount may be largely increased in the course of the next two or three years. Capital is almost omnipotent in such matters. If the people of Portland continue to drive pegs, they may keep their city from floating off down the river. But they have, certainly, got to drive their pegs before the Northern Pacific Railroad company get ready to drive theirs. If we get the West Side railroad with its terminus in this city next year, the city will be in far better condition than now to command the situation. While the proposition is afloat Portland's future supremacy as the city of the Northwest is a debatable question. Make Portland the center of the railroad system of the State, and then she can negotiate with the Northern Pacific Railroad Company on terms of something like equality. But let our State roads centre somewhere else, and the N. P. R. R. Co. can, when it gets ready, put Portland into its breeches pockets and walk off with it. The laying off of the town of Kalama on the Columbia river, at a point central between Puget Sound and the Wallamet valley, where boats may always come at lowest water and generally when the Wallamet and Columbia are inaccessible beyond St. Helens, indicates the purpose of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company to gain and hold a key to the whole country. When they shall have completed the Columbia and Puget Sound division of the road, they will be able to dictate terms to Portland in regard to the manner in which we shall be connected with their great overland trunk, unless, meantime, Portland shall drive along so as to make itself the mountain to which Mohamet must come instead of being the Mohamet compelled to go to the mountain. Kalama is not one of the old-time mooncalves, such as the building of a steamship wharf at St. Helens or Astoria, backed by neither steamships nor capital. Kalama is the creation of a company which can play with capital at a game of battledore. Let Portland be up and prepare to induce the company to play—for her favor instead of against her.

LAUNCH.—The new steamer Dixie Thompson was launched yesterday at the Boneyard. She went off the ways in beautiful style with steam up and made a short trip, finally landing at the [illegible]'s wharf. The Dixie is now, next to the [illegible], the finest river boat plying to or from this city. She is something longer than the Cascade, and is in every way better furnished. Her stern wheel house is a novelty in our waters, and her wheel is unlike anything ever saw. The face of the wheel is divided into three sections, the paddles of the two outside sections being on a line with each other, and the middle ones are half way between. The arrangement is expected to prevent all slapping of the water by the paddles, the intermediate paddles being so short, and consequently less trembling of the boat. It would seem that the boat ought to run at full speed almost without tremor. The Dixie is to run in the Astoria trade. She took on freight at the wharf yesterday, and will go down to-day.

A DULL HOLIDAY.—Yesterday was New Year's day, and many of the business houses remained closed. Most people, however, had already had their New Year jollity season, and the day passed off with a sparkle for all the world like that of champagne which has stood in its bottle with its cork out, for a day. A few callers, who drank the compliments of the season from far too many decanters, were jolly as jolly could be (and keep afoot), but all the rest of the town was dull almost as Sunday. But of all the people who found the dullness out, the local reporters were the most unfortunate, the poorest, the blueest devils, out. There was no calling anything with them, but shinning round for a line here and a line there, to eke their columns out. That's what's the matter.

A BLUNDER.—It is really so seldom that newspapers make mistakes that a great many people (rather green and confiding) have come to believe it impossible. We know better, though, [illegible], and as proof we instance our [illegible] of yesterday morning concerning the bark [illegible] being loaded for England and ready to sail. That was a whopper. The Tenax [illegible], nor is she ready to sail.

SHIPPING ITEMS.—The bark Lyra was towed down the river yesterday morning by the steamer [illegible].

The bark Almatia was towed down in the afternoon by the steamer Vancouver.

The ship Montgomery Castle will clear and depart this morning in tow of the Fannie Troup. The departure of these vessels will leave but few vessels in port.

THE RIVER.—During the last few days the Wallamet river has risen to a fine boating stage, and everything has become lively among steamboatmen and produce shippers. We learn from [illegible] that the rise came, however, out of the McKenzie fork and the Santiam, both of which streams were well up. There was no rise at [illegible] City, and the boats did not get up that far of the river.

NEWS FROM YAMHILL.—Last week the Yamhill river was at good stage, and the Dayton for the first time this winter reached McMinnville, making three trips and bringing down two hundred and ninety tons from the various warehouses on the river. Mr. Burbank, who came down to Lafayette yesterday, reports the river as falling again, however, in consequence of the late cold weather.

ODD FELLOWS' ELECTION.—The officers of [illegible] Lodge No. 17, I. O. O. F., East Portland, for the term beginning Jan. 1st, are as follows: [illegible] Ramson, N. G.; J. J. Allen, V. G.; J. Taylor, Secretary; Trustees, Messrs. B. Burni, J. [illegible] and — Wishard. These officers elect will be installed at the regular meeting next [illegible] evening.

NEW YEAR CALLS.—Quite a number of our people, principally nice young men, observed yesterday the Knickerbocker custom of making New Year calls, sipping hospitable wine, nibbling cake, toasting hospitable hostesses, and feeling, in some cases, alas, happier than the circumstances would seem to warrant.

INSANE.—Yesterday a man known as Nicholas Brown was arrested as an insane person and committed to the Asylum. He was "fixed," when arrested, with a Colt's revolving rifle, a navy revolver and a pocket pistol. His conduct on the street for some days past had been observed as singular.

INSTALLATION.—At a regular meeting of [illegible] Lodge No. 19, I. O. O. F., the following officers were duly installed by D. D. G. v. Wintzingerode: J. Kraemer, N. G.; A. Goldsmith, V. G.; [illegible], R. S.; H. Ostheim, Treasurer; [illegible] C. A. Allsky, O. v. Wintzingerode, N.

LOTTERY.—Last week Mr. Lagrange presented the Trustees of the German Patriotic Fund with a [illegible] tickets in a raffle for a fine clock, and one of the tickets won the prize. The clock, which is valued at $100, will be raffled again this week for the benefit of the fund.

SPECIAL MEETING.—The stockholders of the Portland Homestead Association will hold a special meeting at the Council Chamber this evening for the transaction of important business. A full attendance is desired.

THE COLUMBIA RIVER OPEN.—The Oneonta returned last evening, having succeeded in effecting a connection at the Cascades with the Dalles steamer. She brought down all the back mails and express matter.

TAXES OF EAST PORTLAND.—The assessment roll for East Porland is now in the hands of the Treasurer, and the taxes are due and payable within the next thirty days.

FOUND.—J. F. Hossman, who was reported in the Idaho papers as missing, desires us to say that he is stopping at the International Hotel in this city, and in good health.

[illegible] WAREHOUSE.—The raising of the frame of the warehouse on the Clinton Point dock was commenced yesterday. It looks from this that it is to be a large and substantial structure.

AMUSEMENTS.

ORO FINO THEATER.—There was a very good house last evening at Oro Fino Theatre on the occasion of the first production of "Alice the Forsaken." The piece is a new one to the most of our play-goers and is sufficiently fraught with very strong dramatic incidents and situations to render it popular. Mrs. Bates has the character of a girl rendered mad by misfortune and the crimes of others—a character which she sustained with thrilling effect, portraying a most startling likeness of the passion of madness. The play was mounted in the most excellent style for which the company has long since been distinguished, and its performance entirely to the satisfaction of the audience. It will be repeated to-night for the last time, and will be followed by the laughable farce of "Slasher and Crasher."

EMANCIPATION CELEBRATION.—We dropped in a few minutes at Armory Hall where the colored folks were celebrating the Emancipation Anniversary, last evening. We were just in time to see the greater part of the tableaux. Some of them were well conceived, but the gauze curtain before them and the lack of strong white light upon them, were serious defects. There were several tables beautifully spread for supper, and we learned that there was to be an address. The Twenty-third Infantry Band was present and contributed with their excellent music to the enjoyments of the evening. Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen of the Caucasian persuasion favored the entertainment with their presence.

THE COURTS.

MONDAY, Jan. 2, 1871.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.—This being the day for the opening of the regular term the court was called, but without transacting any business an adjournment was ordered till Wednesday, Jan. 4, when the docket will be called.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—The term of business in this court will be resumed to-morrow (Tuesday) morning at 9 o'clock.

COUNTY COURT—HAMILTON, J.—To-day being a business holiday the County Court sat only to examine a couple of persons brought before it for insanity. They were both committed. The court adjourned till 9 A. M. to-morrow.

SOCIAL HOP.—The gallant boys of Protection company No. 4, with their wives, sweethearts, and others for whom they seemed perfectly willing to afford protection, met at their engine house and celebrated the advent of the New Year with dancing till the early hours of this morning.

MECHANISM OF WATCHES.—An interesting article in the Phrenological Journal and Packard's Magazine for December, on the "Watch Manufacture in America," gives some extraordinary facts connected with the exceeding delicacy of the mechanism of our pocket time-keepers. Among other things the writer says:

"A hairspring, according to the Elgin standard, is a delicate ribbon of the finest steel, measuring one-twelve-hundred and fiftieth of an inch in diameter, and weighing one-fifteen-thousandth of a pound troy. It is a foot long when drawn out in a straight line. A pound of steel, worth in the bar one dollar, when converted into hair-spring becomes worth $4,000, or more than fifteen times as valuable as a pound of gold. For each pivot of a watch a jewel is selected with a hole, which is a degree or the ten-thousandth part of an inch larger, so that there shall be just sufficient room for the pivot's play and no more. In preparing the jewels for watches, the precious stones—diamonds, rubies, garnets, sapphires and aqua-marines are set in good time-pieces—are cut into little cubes, and then turned in a lathe. When ready to be inserted in the watch-plate, a jewel weighs less than one-sixty-five hundredths of an ounce troy. The pivot-hole is drilled into it with a diamond-point, hardly perceptible to the naked eye, and then polished with a wire that passes through it, and whirls one way while the jewel whirls the other, making 28,000 revolutions a minute. Every jewel-hole is left a little larger than the pivot, for what is called the 'side-shake,' and every shaft or axle a little short for the 'end-shake.' The minute gauges, which measure all the parts, make allowance for these a bit of calulation which they readily perform with an accuracy unknown to human brains. After the operation of polishing, if a single particle of diamond dust is left in the jewel-hole it will imbed itself firmly in the steel pivot, and there act like a tiny chisel, cutting away into the jewel while the pivot revolves. The utmost care is necessary, therefore, to see that no diamond dust is left in the watch.

The last stage in the manufacture is the adjusting of the movement to heat and cold. First, the watch is run for several hours in the temperature of one hundred and ten degrees; then it is placed in a cold box where the temperature is about zero, and it must be kept to time alike in both conditions. It is also the office of the adjuster to try the running of the movement in different positions, and if he finds no variation it is ready for the case.

The number of pieces in an American watch varies from 156 to 160, while a watch made by hand in the old English style contained 800, if we count each link in the chain which, in this country, with the fusee and 'mainwheel,' have been done away, and with advantage."

WITHOUT AN ENEMY.—Heaven help the man who imagines that he can dodge enemies by trying to please everybody. If such an individual ever succeeded we should be glad of it—not that one should be going through the world trying to find beams to knock and thump his poor head against, disputing every man's opinion, fighting, and elbowing, and crowding all who differ with him. That again, is another extreme. Other people have a right to their opinions; so have you. Don't fall in the error of supposing that they will respect you more for turning your coat every day to match the color of theirs. Wear your own colors in spite of either wind or weather, storms or sunshine. It costs the vacillating and irresolute ten times more to wind, and shuffle, and twist, than it does honest, manly independence to stand its ground.

There are at the present time, in round numbers, about fifty-seven miles of wooden block pavement in Chicago, and that city is, without doubt, the most thoroughly paved city of its size in the world.

THE people are all looking about for something extra nice for holiday dinners (and everybody has a holiday dinner). C. M. MARTIN is the man of the time, and is fully prepared for the emergency. For proof consult his splendid stock of Family Groceries, Fresh Vegetables, Butter and Eggs, Salt Fish, Chinook Salmon Bellies, Halibut Fins, Game of every description, all the Fruits of the season, Honey, and Nick-nacks too numerous to mention.

December is here, with her storms and her rain,
And it makes the folks of cold weather complain.
Hark ye, dear gentlemen, this need not be so,
You can all be kept warm, for O'NEIL & CO.
Can fit you so nicely, so snug and so warm,
With CLOTHES that are proof 'gainst the bitterest storm,
And they sell them so cheaply, that all who go there,
Unlike Flora McFlimsey, can find something to wear.

EARLY MORN.—Thousands of both sexes, in this country, awake every morning languid, unrefreshed and devoid of all inclination for breakfast. No matter from what cause these indescribable feelings may proceed, their best and quickest remedy will be found in a dose of PLANTATION BITTERS. The beneficial effect is immediate. The stomach at once responds to the genial influence of the preparation, and a reserve of latent vitality, which only required the awakening agency of this potent invigorant to render it active, is brought into play. Of all appetizers it is the most infallible, and the impulse which it imparts to the digestive functions soon puts dyspepsia to flight.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.—This medicine is a "combination and a form indeed" for healing and curing all the ills which afflict us in the shape of coughs, colds and inflammation of the throat, lungs and chest.

CERTIFICATE OF AN EMINENT CHEMIST.—I have made a careful chemical analysis of the SOZODONT, from an impartial sample purchased by me personally, from a leading drug house of this city, but nothing of an injurious or objectionable character has been found in its composition.

MACHINERY,

RUBBER AND LEATHER BELTING, FARM WAGONS, GRASS SEEDS, ETC., ETC.

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS, greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market, notwithstanding a certain firm, somewhat noted for truth and veracity—"so-called"—persist in affirming that they are "bogus," "California made," etc.

Don't fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOW Co's LATEST MAKE; and we think you will coincide with a Yamhill Farmer; who, after "looking round" and hearing the old story about bogus Molines, etc., delivered himself thusly: "Wall, Myers, I'll just chance a couple of these new plows, and if they are 'bogus,' as that gassy chap above here says, I'll be d—ned if I won't take bogus in mine every time."

Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (Have now only a few left of the last lot,) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received. It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other Farm wagon in market, in point of material, workmanship and finish, having achieved a reputation throughout the West, and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon. Some of the first sold here—three years ago,—have never yet had a tire re-set, and our experience has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first-class wagon, and WARRANT them such, and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with "bogus makes" that others are, or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture, particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr. Bain for this market.

This Watch we guarantee to be the best and cheapest time-keeper that is now in use in any part of the globe. The works are in double cases, Ladies' and Gents' size, and are beautifully chased. The cases are made of the metal now so widely known in Europe as Aluminum Gold. It has the exact color of Gold, which it always retains; it will stand the test of the strongest acids; no one can tell it from Gold only by weight, the Aluminum Gold being one-fourth lighter. The works are all made by machinery, the same as the well-known American Watch. We pack the Watch safely in a small box and send it by mail to any part of the United States on receipt of $3 50; fifty cents for packing and postage. A key is sent free with each Watch. Don't Crowd.

Don't crowd, this world is broad enough
For you as well as me,
The doors of art are open wide—
The realm of thought is free,
Of all earth's places you are right
To choose the best you can;
Provided you do not try
To crowd some other man.

What matter though you scarce can count
Your piles of golden ore,
While he can hardly strive to keep
Gaunt famine from the door;
Of willing hands and honest heart
Alone should man be proud,
Then give him all the room he needs,
And never try to crowd.

Don't crowd, proud Miss, your dainty silk
Will glisten none the less
Because it comes in contact with
A beggar's tattered dress,
The lovely world was never made
For you and I alone
The pauper has the right to tread
The pathway to a throne.

Don't crowd the good from out your heart
By fostering all that's bad;
But give to every virtue room—
The best that may be had;
Be each day's record such a one,
That you may well be proud;
Give each his right, give each his room,
And never try to crowd.

The Major Excommunication.

THE EVERLASTING CURSE OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH PROMULGATED AGAINST VICTOR EMANUEL.

By authority of the Almighty God, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, and of the holy canons, and of the undefiled Virgin Mary, mother and nurse of our Savior; and of the celestial virtues, angels, archangels, thrones, dominions, powers, cherubims and seraphims; and of all the holy patriarchs and prophets; and of all the apostles and evangelists; and of the holy innocents (who, in the sight of the Lamb, are found worthy to sing the new song), and of the holy martyrs and holy confessors, and of the holy virgins, and of all the saints, together with all the holy and elect of God—we excommunicate and anathematize him, and from the threshold of the [illegible] church of God Almighty we sequester [illegible] may be tormented in eternal excruciating sufferings, together with Dathan [illegible] and those who say to the Lord [illegible] from us; we desire none of [illegible]. And as fire is quenched with [illegible] so let the light of him be put out evermore.

May the Father who created man curse him. May the Son who suffered for us curse him. May the Holy Ghost which was given [illegible] baptism curse him. May the Holy [illegible] which Christ (for our salvation triumphant over his enemies) ascended, curse him. May the Holy and Eternal Virgin Mother of God, curse him. May St. [illegible] of holy souls curse him. [illegible] and arch-angels, principalities and powers and all the heavenly armies [illegible]. May St. John the precursor, and St. John the Baptist, and St. Peter, and St. [illegible] and St. Andrew, and all other of Christ's Apostles together, curse him. And may the rest of his Disciples and four Evangelists who by preaching, converted the universal world, and may the holy and wonderful company of martyrs and confessors who, by their holy works, are found pleading with God Almighty), curse him.

May the Choir of the Holy Virgins (who, for the honor of Christ, have despised the [illegible]) damn him. May all the saints (who, [illegible] beginning of the world and everlasting [illegible] found to be beloved of God), [illegible]. May the heavens and the earth, [illegible] holy things remaining therein, [illegible].

[illegible] damned wherever he be; whether in the house or in the field, whether in the highway or by-way, whether in the wood or in the water, or whether in the church. May he be cursed in living and in dying, in eating and drinking, in fasting and thirsting, in slumbering and sleeping, in watching or walking, in standing or sitting, in lying down or working, mingendo, cacando, and in bloodletting.

May he be cursed in all the faculties of the [illegible] be cursed inwardly and outwardly. May he be cursed in his hair. May [illegible] cursed in his brains. May he be cursed [illegible] of his head and in his temples. [illegible] head and in his ears. In his eyebrows [illegible] in his cheeks. In his jaw-bones [illegible] nostrils. In his foreteeth and in [illegible]. In his lips and in his throat. [illegible] shoulders and in his wrists. In his [illegible] hands and in his fingers.

May he be damned [illegible] his mouth, in his [illegible] in his heart, and in all the viscera of [illegible]. May he be damned in his groin, [illegible] genital organs, in hips and [illegible] knees, in his legs, feet and toe-nails!

May he be cursed in all the joints and articulation of his members. From the top of [illegible] to the sole of his foot may there be no soundness in him.

May [illegible] of the living God, with all the [illegible] majesty, curse him, and may [illegible] all the powers that move therein [illegible] against him—curse and damn him [illegible]. So be it. Amen.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, [illegible] memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating [illegible], which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to [illegible] a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co's, a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD

COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd-numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminous with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so [illegible], by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.
